Golden Number in chronology is that number which indicates the year of the lunar cycle for any given time. It was called the Golden Number because in the ancient calendar it was written in letters of gold, on account of its great usefulness in ecclesiastical computations, especially in fixing the time of Easter.

Previous to 1582 the length of the year had been reckoned at 365 days 6 hours, as computed by Julius Caesar (in 46); but as the true length of a solar year is 365 days 5 hours and 48 minutes, an error had arisen from the computation amounting in 1582 to 10 days in excess. ## Golden Number.

Golden Number, in chronology, is that number which indicates the year of the Lunar Cycle for any given time. It was called the Golden Number because in the ancient calendar it was written in letters of gold, on account of its great usefulness in ecclesiastical computations, especially in fixing the time of Easter.

Previous to 1552 the length of the year had been reckoned at 365 days 6 hours, as computed by Julius Cæsar (B.C. 45); but as the true length of a solar year is 365 days, 5 hours, and 49 minutes, an error had arisen from the computation amounting in 1582 to 10 days in advance. To rectify the Calendar and to prevent future irregularities it was decreed as follows, by Pope Gregory XIII. :—

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

FROM "NOTES ON WESTERN AUSTRALIA," BY THE HON. JOHN FORREST, C.M.G.

THE first discovery of the Western Coast of Australia of which we have a fairly authentic account was made by Dirk Hartog, in the ship "Endracht," and Dirk Hartog's Island, on the Western side of Sharks Bay, was so named in consequence. A tin plate, having the following inscription upon it, was left at the North end of the island, afterwards named Cape Inscription:—

"25th October, 1616.—Arrived here the ship "Endracht," of Amsterdam. The first merchant Gillis Miebaix of Luik; Dirk Hartog, of Amsterdam, captain. Sailed for Bantam 27th of same month."

This plate was seen by Vlaming in 1697, and by Baudin in 1803, but had disappeared in 1838, when it was searched for by Sir George Grey.

In 1619 Van Edels visited the coast near what is now known as Champion Bay, and gave his name to it.

In 1622 the South-west corner of Australia was discovered in the ship "Leeuwin," and the South-west Cape still bears the name of Cape Leeuwin.

In 1627 the South coast from Cape Leeuwin eastward towards the Great Australian Bight was discovered in the ship "Gulde Zeepart," and was named Nuyts Land. The magnificent flowering tree Nuytsia floribunda, commonly called the "Christmas or Cabbage tree," was named by Robert Brown, the great naturalist, in honor of Nuyts.

In 1628 the coast between Sharks Bay and Champion Bay was discovered by De Witt, and was named "De Witt's Land."

In 1629 Pelsart, in the ship "Batavia," was wrecked on Houtman's Abrolhos. The story of this shipwreck, and of the adventures of the immigrants, the mutiny, the supposed treasure, the marooning of two of the mutineers on the mainland near Champion Bay, in 1629, are well known to all readers of early voyages. Captain Wickham, R.N., in 1839, found on an island of the Abrolhos, named by him Pelsart Island, a part of the ship "Batavia," with a coin dated 1620, besides several fragments of corroded iron, &c.

In 1644 Tasman examined the North-western coast from the Gulf of Carpentaria to De Witt's Land.

In 1688 Dampier visited the North-west coast near Roebuck and Beagle Bays, and gave an interesting account of the aborigines, whom he describes as the "miserablest people in the world."

On Christmas Day, 1696, Vlaming discovered Swan River (so named by him on account of black swans being first seen on it), and Rottneest Island. He captured and took away with him several of the black swans, and, proceeding northward, examined the coast as far as the North-west Cape, passing Sharks Bay, where he recorded his visit on the tin plate left by Dirk Hartog in 1616, near what is now called Cape Inscription.

In 1699 Dampier again visited the Western coast, and examined Sharks Bay, so named by him, though it had formerly been named Dirk Hartog Bay, by Dirk Hartog, in 1616. He also discovered and mapped Dampier Archipelago, and added largely to the knowledge of the habits and customs of the aborigines and the natural history of the country.

In 1726 the ship "Zeephyk" was wrecked on Houtman's Abrolhos, in lat. 28deg. 53min. S., near Gun Island (so named by Captain Wickham, R.N., in 1839, as he found a gun upon it, besides many relics of the wrecked ship). The crew were able to build a boat from the fragments of the wreck, and reached Batavia in safety. In 1882 I visited Gun Island and found a large number of common clay pipes, a large quantity of broken bottles, wine glasses, corroded iron, &c., as well as two coins, bearing date 1720 and 1722.

In 1772 it is stated that Captain St. Alouarn anchored near Cape Leeuwin, and no doubt St. Alouarn's Island, near the Cape, is so named in consequence.

FLOWER GARDEN GUIDE.

In 1791 Vancouver discovered King George's Sound and Oyster Harbor, and a tablet near a well he dug has recently been erected recording his visit.

The following year D'Entrecasteaux, in search of Count La Perouse and his officers and crew, who had not been heard of since 1788, examined the South coast, naming Esperance Bay, the Recherché Archipelago, &c. The celebrated botanist Labillardiere accompanied this expedition, and he has left us an account of the voyage.

In 1802 Flinders, in the ship "Investigator," examined and carefully mapped King George's Sound, Princess Royal Harbor, and the whole of the South coast. He was accompanied on this expedition by Robert Brown, the great naturalist, and William Westall, the famous landscape painter.

In 1803 Baudin and Hamelin, in the French ships "Geographe" and "Naturaliste," in search of Count La Perouse expedition, examined the West coast from Cape Leveque to Cape Leeuwin, naming the Naturaliste Channel and many other localities in Sharks Bay, Leschenault Inlet, Geographe Bay, Cape Naturaliste, Cape Hamelin, and many other places, the names of which are now familiar to all West Australians. Baudin was accompanied on this expedition by the naturalist Leschenault.

In 1818 Captain Freycinet examined the Western coast and visited Sharks Bay, and the naturalist Gaudichaud has left an account of this voyage in his "Botanique Voyage autour du Monde, par Freycinet."

After this the next record is that of Captain (afterwards Admiral) P. P. King, R.N., between the year 1818 and 1822, who carefully surveyed the whole Western coast, from King George's Sound to Cambridge Gulf. King's charts and sailing directions, with additions by Wickham and Stokes and others, are for the most part in use at the present time. In these surveys he was assisted by Lieutenant (afterwards Commander) Roe, R.N., the first Surveyor-General of this Colony, as well as by Allan Cunningham, the naturalist.

In 1826 the Government of New South Wales despatched a detachment of the 39th Regiment, under Major Lockyer, to King George's Sound, to form a settlement.

In 1828 Captain (afterwards Sir James) Stirling, R.N., in H.M.S. "Success," surveyed the coast from King George's Sound to Swan River, and on the 1st of June, 1829, the Colony of Western Australia was founded by Captain Stirling, who was appointed Lieutenant-Governor.

Flower Garden Guide.

JANUARY.—Dahlias and roses should be looked after; the former requiring staking, disbudding, mulching, and watering; the latter to be pruned when necessary, so as to give a fine autumn bloom; decayed flowers should be removed, and every means used to render the plants vigorous. Carnations should be layered. Chrysanthemums, phloxes, and other herbaceous plants will want staking and thinning.

FEBRUARY.—Proceed with the propagation of the favorite plants by layering, cuttings, or otherwise. Plant at the end of the month a few hyacinths, tulips, anemones, ranunculi, and narcissi for early blooming. Sow stocks, larkspur, mignonette, &c. Take care that camelias, azaleas, rhododendrons, and the like plants do not suffer from want of water. Climbers must be regulated, the stronger growing kinds cut back, and others neatly tied up. All decayed flower stems or leaves to be removed; walks to be kept neat and orderly.

MARCH.—Dahlias, hollyhocks, lilliums, and Pompom chrysanthemums will now be in their prime; liquid manure will prolong and enhance the beauty of these flowers; dead blooms must be picked off, or the plants will be impoverished. This is the best month to sow hardy annual and perennial flower seeds. Prepare your ground for planting shrubs, ornamental trees, &c.; if not already trenched get it done at once. Herbaceous plants can be divided, and planted where wanted; carnations and pinks may still be propagated by cuttings under a bell glass.

APRIL.—This is one of the busiest months in the year; most kinds of evergreens and ornamental and flowering shrubs are best transplanted now, and any alterations that are to be made in laying out grounds should be commenced. Take up gladioli, lilioms, and other bulbs that have done flowering; store them away in boxes, packed in dry sand. Finish planting hyacinths, tulips, crocusses, narcissi, anemones, ranunculi, ixias, etc. Renovate edgings of camomile, thrift, box, and thyme. For new plantations of roses the ground should be trenched and heavily manured; if light soil some stiff loam should be incorporated with it.

MAY.—As dahlias and hollyhocks die off the stalks should be cut down and cleared away; the former being taken up and housed in a dry shed or cellar. Look over your seedling, annual and other plants; thin them where thick; keep slugs and other vermin away. Prune perpetual flowering, banksian, and other spring-blooming roses. Continue planting evergreens, and flowering and ornamental shrubs; stake the same when necessary. Propagate by cutting fuschias, roses, etc. Attend to the hedges, keeping them well clipped; if new ones are required, use hawthorn, furze, osage orange, or acacia, where strength is required; if light, small edges are wanted, the small-leaved prickly acacia, Cape broom, sweet briar, or pittosporum, are the best.

JUNE.—If possible, finish planting all kinds of trees; choose calm, dull weather for the purpose of transplanting, and take care that the roots are mutilated as little as possible. This is a good time for sowing grass seeds for lawns and borders. Dig neatly your flower beds, adding, if necessary, a little well-rotted manure. Finish pruning roses, flowering shrubs, etc. Old roses that have been standing for years should be taken up and replaced with young vigorous plants.

JULY.—If former directions have been carried out there will not remain much to be done this month, with the exception of keeping all the walks, borders, and beds neat and clean.

AUGUST.—If the manuring and digging of the flower garden be not completed before now, it should be attended to at once. Tall-growing annuals will require tying up. Propagate fuschias, chrysanthemums, and climbers from cuttings. Re-pot plants commencing growth and wanting pot-room. Dahlias for early flowering may be started in a little bottom heat; seeding nemophilas, larkspurs, clarkias, etc., may be transplanted if too thick.

SEPTEMBER.—The floriculturist has generally numerous insect pests to annoy him in this month, such as green and black fly, red spider, scale and thrip, to say nothing of slugs, caterpillars, etc. Gishurst's compound will be found the best remedy for the former. Plant out caceolarias, cupheas, geraniums, heliotropes, pansies, salvias, etc. Sow both tender and hardy annuals.

OCTOBER.—Balsams, cockscombs, globe amaranthus, zinnias, and other tender annuals should now be sown, if not already done; if sown in pots and transplanted into flower beds, place in sunny weather an empty flower pot over the patches of young plants; remove the pots every evening, or the plants will grow up weak and spindling. Climbing plants will be growing fast, and will require constant trimming and training.

NOVEMBER.—Hybrid perpetual roses should have their shoots pruned back immediately they have bloomed. Newly-planted shrubs or plants suffering from hot sunshine should be protected by boughs of ti-tree or wattle. Empty casks, with both ends knocked out, make very good shelters, although rather unsightly. At close of month budding may be proceeded with.

DECEMBER.—Bulbs that have flowered and died away should be taken up and packed in dry sand. This is the best month for planting out dahlias for autumn blooming. Roses and fruit trees may be budded. Newly-planted shrubs and trees will be benefited by having some rotted stable straw spread on surface of soil, which should first be well stirred.

CALENDAR

1889.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—This month is generally too hot and dry to admit of much being done in gardening operations, except in low moist situations, where crops may be carried on almost at any time. Where water is plenty, and easily applied, young crops should be sown in the hot bed after every rain, and the soil be well stirred with the fork, but after every watering. If rain or dull weather occurs, a few cabbage, carrot, cauliflower, celery, broad and kidney beans, lettuce, peas, onion, radish, and turnip seeds may be sown to a limited extent; with the exception of peas and beans, all the seeds should be protected from the intense sun, by shading with calico, paper, or some other suitable material. Early potatoes should be planted for use in April.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—This month is generally too hot and dry to admit of much being done in gardening operations, except in low moist situations, where cropping can be carried on almost at any time. Where water is plentiful and easily applied, young crops should be watered once or twice a week, care being taken that the soil be well stirred with the Dutch hoe after every watering. If rain or dull weather occur, a few cabbage, carrot, cauliflower, celery, broad and kidney beans, lettuce, pea, onion, radish, and turnip seeds, may be sown to a limited extent; with the exception of peas and beans, all the seeds should be protected from the intense sun, by shading with calico, litter, or some other suitable material. Early potatoes should be planted for use in April.

If new asparagus beds are required, plant runners as soon as you can obtain them; three-year-old beds should be destroyed.

A swell in hair went to have his hair cut the other day, and between scissors and incident D. T. in the barber, he spent a rather warm hour on his head. When the operation was over the barber said, "There, sir, it is done." "Well, that depends," answered the swell; "if you've been cutting it, it's not so bad, but if you've been cutting my hair, why, I think I'll have it shaved next time."

KITCHEN GARDEN.—Finish manuring and digging ground ere winter sets in. Take care that young crops of turnips and carrots are kept free from weeds. Continue planting out cabbage, cauliflower and celery; the latter would be much benefited by an occasional dose of guano-water. Sow peas (early varieties), broad beans, onions, endive, radish, and spinach. Plant potatoes, shallots, garlic, rhubarb, and horse radish. Earth up celery as required. Look to your herd bed; where necessary, divide the roots and make fresh plantations. If strawberry runners were not planted last month let them be this.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—Asparagus, rhubarb, and sea-kale beds will want cleaning and manuring. Sow broad beans, peas, lettuce, onions, radish and spinach, for successive crops. Plant out early cabbages and late sowings of celery. Finish manuring and digging all vacant ground, whether wanted for immediate use or not; bear in mind that turning over ground in a wet state does it more harm than good. If ground is wanted for other purposes, carrots, parsnips, and other tap-rooted vegetables may be taken up and stored.

An Irishman, who had on a very ragged coat, was asked of what kind of stuff it was made. "Bedad! I don't know," says he; "I think the most of it is made of fresh air."

KITCHEN GARDEN.—Get all heavy work in the most forward state possible. This is the best month for planting all descriptions of fruit trees; trenching and deep draining are essential to their well-doing; if soil is poor and manure needed, use bone dust in preference to guano. Commence pruning fruit trees, beginning with those that have lost their foliage. Sow, to a limited extent, cabbage, cauliflowers, brocoli, early carrots, lettuce, and radishes. Make good sowings of broad beans, peas, and leeks. Finish planting garlic, shallots, horse radish, rhubarb, sea-kale and asparagus.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—This month will close the season for planting fruit trees, etc., so that all diligence must be used. August is the chief month for sowing seeds of various kinds—such as cabbage, cauliflower, carrot, leek, lettuce, onion, parsley, parsnip, peas, radish, spinach, salsafy, and scorzonera. If frames are obtainable, make up hot beds for early cucumbers, melons, vegetables marrows, etc. Tomatoes may be sown in pots in a frame for planting out in October. Plant Jerusalem artichokes and main crop of potatoes. Plant out cabbages, cauliflowers, leeks and onions.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—This is the busiest month in the year for seed sowing; most of the hardy vegetables may be sown, and towards the close of the month all the tender sorts. Potatoes of all kinds should be planted for main crops. Make a sowing of peas for succession. Early long-pod beans may still be sown in low-lying ground. Sow scarlet runners, dwarf French beans, beet, carrot, cucumber, melon, vegetable marrow, pumpkin, onion, radish and spinach; mustard and cress should be sown every fortnight; sow celery on a hot-bed. Tomatoes and capsicums may be sown in warm situations; if any have been raised in a hot-bed, harden a little and plant out. Plant Chinese yams and sweet potatoes in well trenched scil. Fruit trees will require a little attention.

What do you do when you have a cold? "Cough," was the sententious reply

KITCHEN GARDEN.—If the season be moist, carrots, leeks, and pumpkins may still be sown. Now largely of kidney beans, early and late, should be sown. Vegetable marrows, pumpkins, and onions may also be sown, but they will not grow very early. Plant out early cabbages, cauliflowers, and brussels sprouts, if you have room. Words will grow away—do not leave them for succession. Words will grow away—do not leave them for succession. Words will grow away—do not leave them for succession.

A Good Turn.—"Mr. Hinton, old fellow," said a reader, "I saw a thing in your paper yesterday." "Indeed, and what you were pleased to say?" "A pound of cheese."

Sow largely of kidney beans, early turnips, capsicums, tomato, cucumber, vegetable marrow, pumpkins, melons, and parsley; also, tall-growing varieties of peas—they will not grow very high at this season of the year. KITCHEN GARDEN.—Beds of rhubarb and sea-kale that have been forced should be cleared off. Cease cutting asparagus, or you will weaken the roots. Attend to cucumbers and melons; if any have missed, sow again. Stop leading shoots of cucumbers, to induce laterals. If tomatoes are not planted against a wall or fence, they should be tied up to strong sticks and pruned moderately, or fruit will be small and few. This is the time for preventing a great deal of pruning in winter. Use the finger and thumb judiciously in disbudding and stopping fruit trees; thin the fruit where thick; increased size and superior flavor will be the result. Vines will require frequent attention as regards training, tying, and thinning shoots.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—Cabbage, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, and savoy may be sown in shady places; peas, kidney beans, lettuce, spinach, and turnips can also be sown, but not to any extent. Onions, carrots, and parsnips will require thinning and weeding. Matured onion bulbs should be harvested at once, or the sun will injure them from keeping. Plant out early, celery plants in trenches, and give abundance of water when established. Early potatoes for seed when ripe, should be taken up and greened, by exposing them to the atmosphere for a few days, under the protection of a shed or verandah.

An Irishman, upon his arrival in the United States, noting the great number of military titles, exclaimed, "What a power of battle has been fought near here where all the privates was kilt!"
