The Bull Chased the Boy

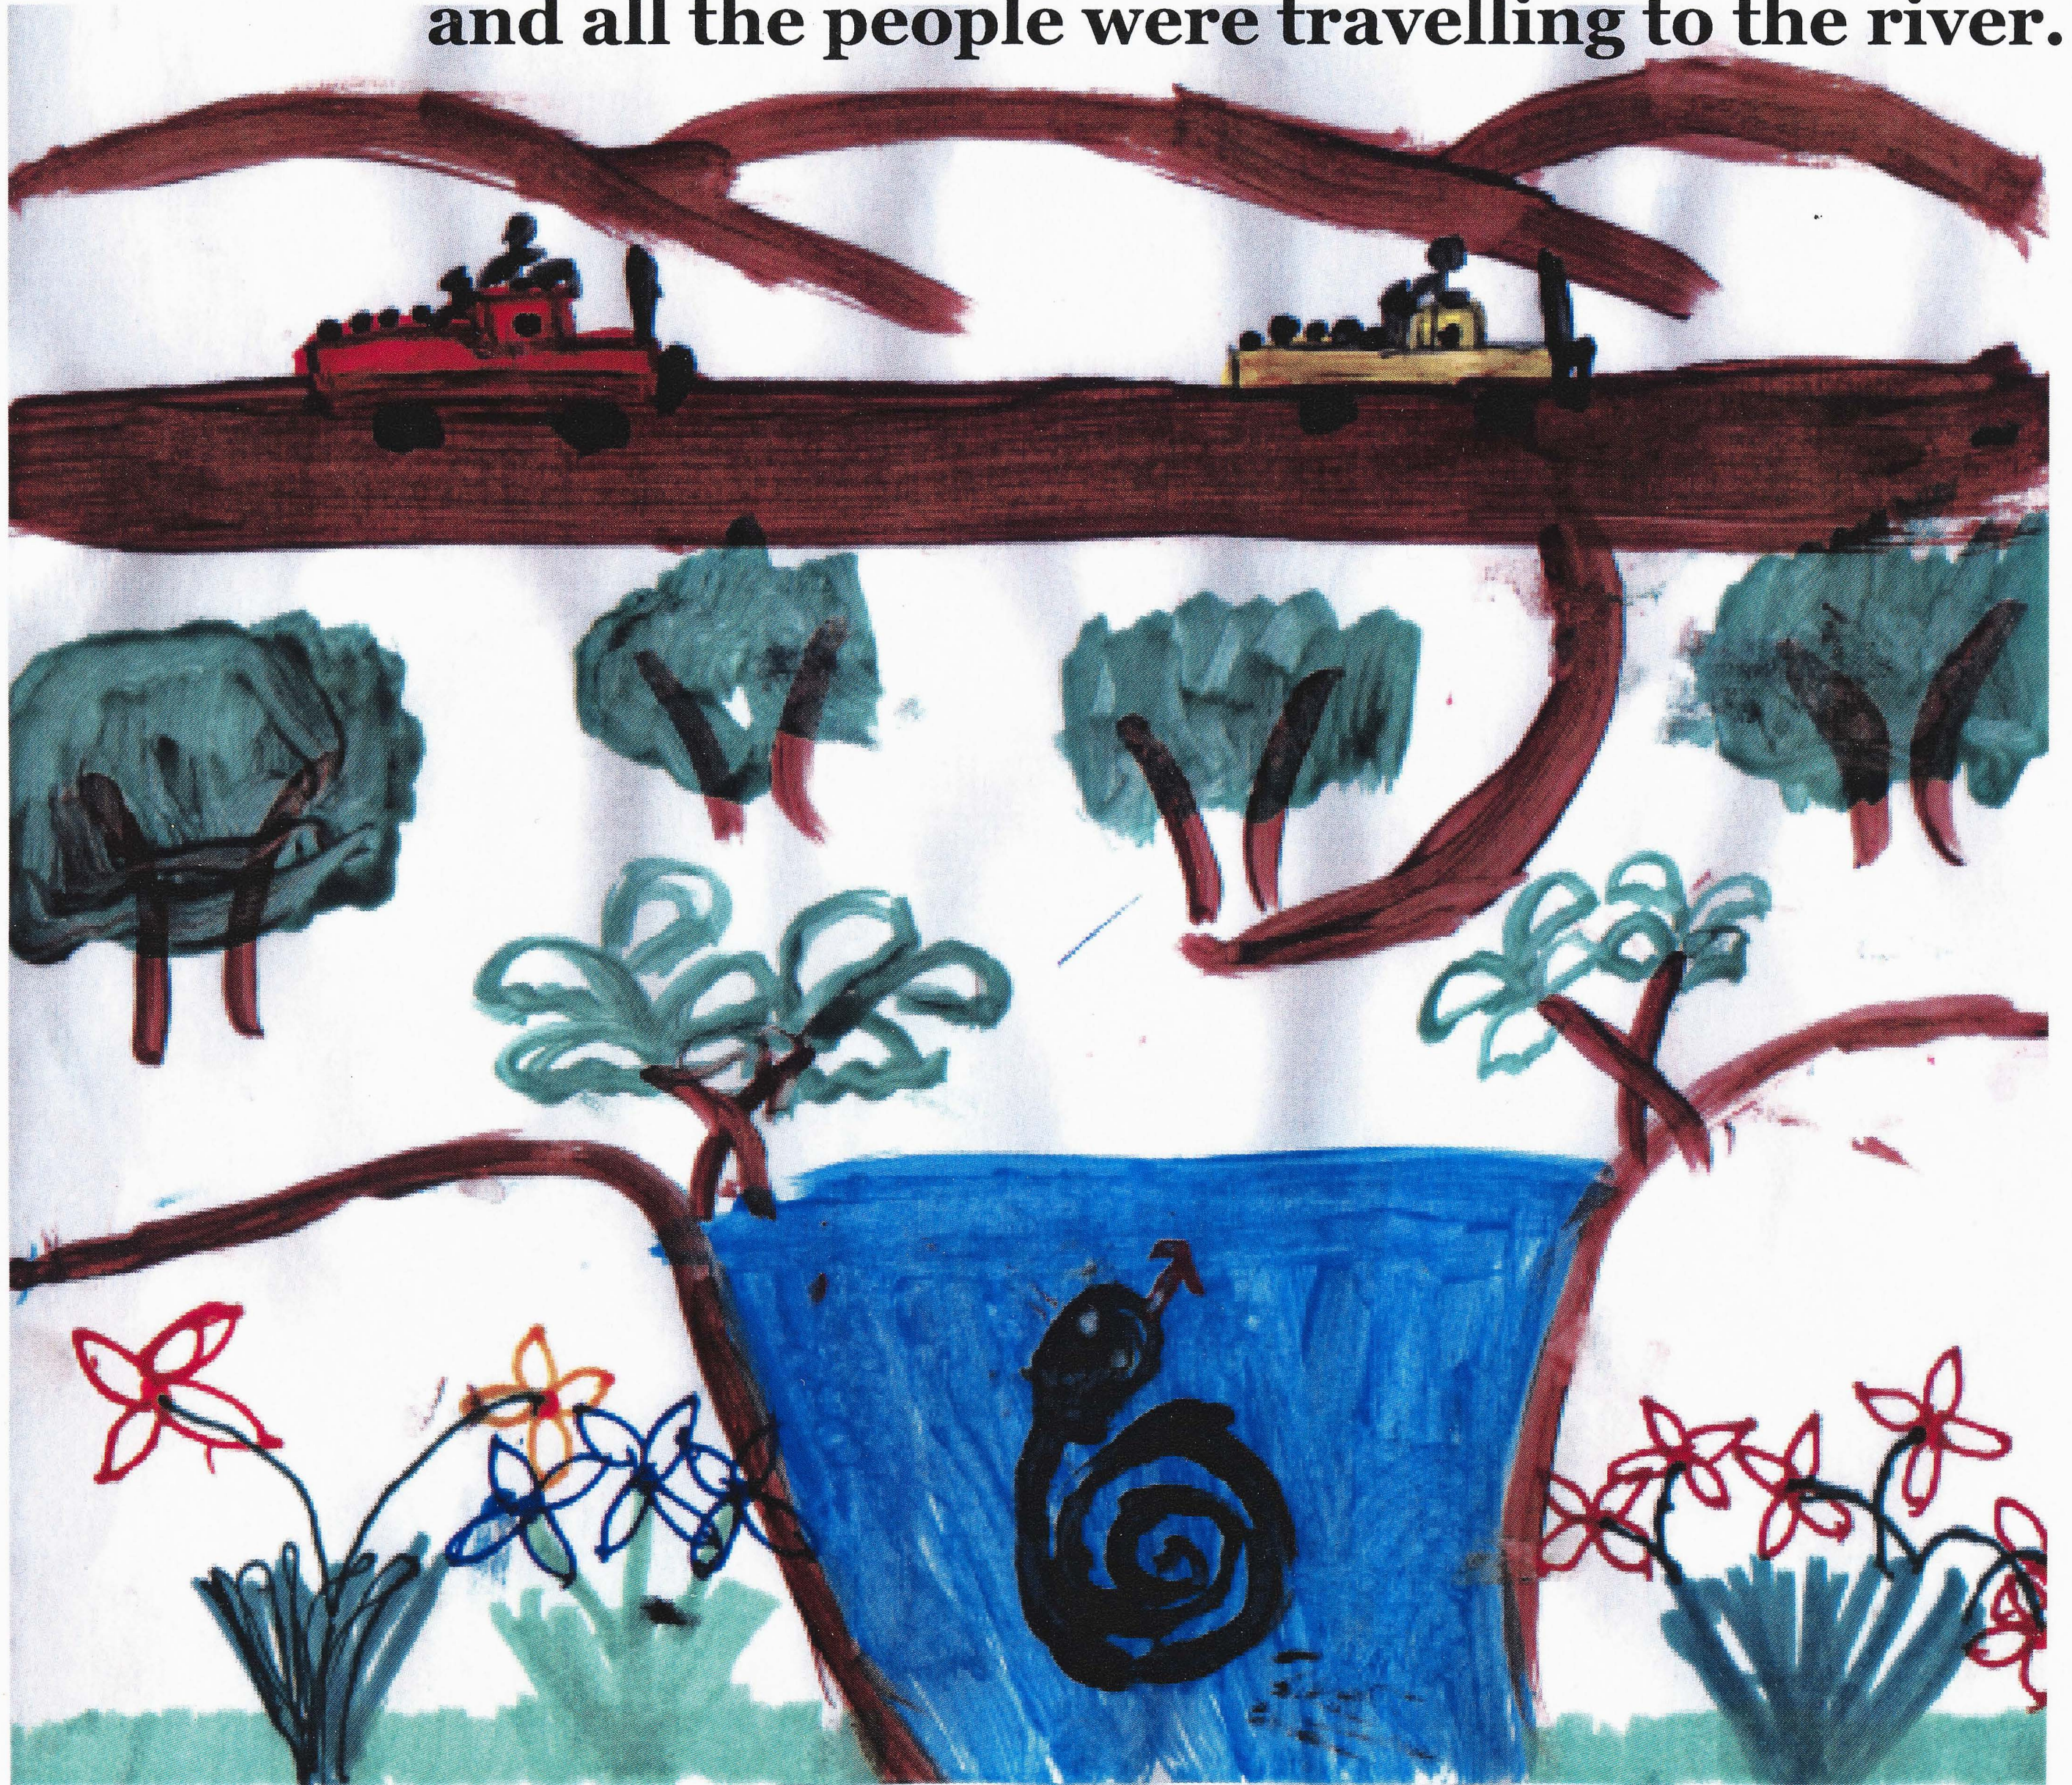

by Sarah Pindan

Once upon a time there were two old cars and all the people were travelling to the river.

They were travelling, and one car broke down beside the river. The driver fixed the car.

A bull was coming straight up towards their car and they chased the bull. The bull ran away to the other bulls.

All the people were fishing and the bull ran after them.
A little boy said “Mummy and Daddy, there’s a bull coming after us!” All the people were shouting.

They were going back to their car and the bull was coming after them and a boy looked back and he said “Look, there’s a bull coming after you!” They all rushed to the car and jumped in and they all went back home.

It was getting dark and all the people were sitting around the fire back at their home. They heard a baby crying. They saw two dingoes and one pack dog. The dingo and the pack dog lived down at the creek.
